WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28, 1914.

 Why was the charge against McGillis switched from a five-year offence to a two-year one?

 Repling to a contemporary which had said about the same thing in different words, the Calgary Herald declares: "There is no similarity in the attitude of the Conservative party 'on reciprocity and the suggested 'removal of duties against wheat and flour.' " That is true.

 The Manitoba Legislature rejected a resolution calling for the establishment of a system of direct legislation, on the ground that the proposal was out of line with the representative system of government. The same in Britain is in this and other Districts. The ground was well chosen, for it was because direct legislation by the whole people was an unworkable arrangement that the system of choosing representatives to do the legislating was established. If it was impracticable for the people as a whole to formulate laws adapted to the needs of society and moreover, its social order, it is even more so that laws are less practicable for the people to directly determine the laws needed for the regulation of the more complicated conditions of today. But those who, like Premier Roblin, talk loudest of the wisdom and efficiency of the representative system, are frequently those who conduct their political and social affairs of that system into question, and so provide arguments to those who desire its abandonment. Only last week a delegation of temperance advocates waited upon Premier Roblin and asked for the privilege of testing public opinion on the question of continuing the禁酒令 in the Province.
 The reply of the Premier was the one that has come to be expected under such circumstances.
 He was heartily in favor of temperance, of course—of course—but really he did not regard reform in the Province as nearly so effective an action by the various municipalities. Local option, not Provincial option, was the only thing which the temperance people were invited to fix their hopes on—and leave the Government to watch events and trim its sails to suit the prevailing breeze, to continue for the time its hard and fast offensive and defensive alliance with the liquor dealers, but free to throw them overboard and take up the temperance cry when it suited the convenience of the most votes. It is precisely this dodging of responsibility on the part of "jelly-bar" politicians that brings the representative system into disrepute and inclines some people to think that the cumbersome and dangerous experiment of law-making by the mass would better accomplish the needed results. The business of a public representative is to do what is honest and best and most progressive in public opinion.
 Where that is done, where representatives devote themselves seriously to the study of public affairs and respond promptly to the demand for remedies for existing evils, there is a need and little excuse for adopting any scheme for taking the law-making power from them. Where, as in Manitoba, a corrupt Government "suffices itself with the worst elements in the community, ignores or side-steps its responsibility to deal with questions of vital consequence in a candid and effective manner, and squanders public money in the maintenance of an army of election workers, it is surely better if some man turns in disgust to the proposal to take the law-making machinery into their own hands.

 A lady whose domicile the police have raided informed the officers that she had come to Edmonton because told this was to be a "wide open" city in future. Perhaps she will also be good enough to say who gave her the tip. That information might be useful.

 The I.W.W. have been threatening lawlessness again, and the police have been trying to get who does not threaten—will be made continue to provide employment or board for them and for the battalions who march in from Calgary and other points to share the plunder.

 The Regina police have started raids into the haunts of crime, foreseeing probably that unless they do so the swindlers from the city will settle here. It is time the Edmonton police also undertook a general round-up of the underworld population. They, might not be able to get the catch convicted but they could at least get them as far as the police court. That would align the department with the respectable element in the city, and make plain to all if even the most ignorant of the public that the intentions of the police was to bring about at least knew what he was talking about.

 The idea for the present is that the police should be held in high favor in the eyes of the public if the collections thereat are at first handed over to the hospital. Charity covers a multitude of schemes of alms giving.

 Alderman Sheepshanks, in support of his plea that three month's taxes should be refunded to property owners in a recently annexed territory, said: "I am not afraid to say that $200 difference in his own tax bill.
 This was an argument which proved that he at least knew what he was talking about.

 It has been stated, with all the weight which attaches to an older man's opinion, that a man can make $1,000 a year, a commissioner should be worth $7,500.
 That is just as easily an auditor and a half. For this reason the amount of information can be worked out to embrace all branches of industry, and put an end to all labor disputes.

 This year's crop in California, it is said, will provide for every person in the United States. It is to be hoped, however, that the people in the States, when they have got the same, will not make a point of seeing that they get their proper allowance.

 The report of the discussion on municipal problems in "Our Town's Forum" between two professors is in a due to bring out the elements of the view and the future will do more in the same direction.
 When the public have got the situation "sized up" there is going to be trouble for those who have been putting things over" them.

 Cheaper power is not the only thing needed to bring industries to Edmonton. Factory sites, conveniently situated and at a low cost, are the necessities of the case. It is useless to try to coax capitalists to plant gigantic manufacturing concerns in Edmonton if the cost of production is too high.

RIOTOUS LANGUAGE AND WILD SCENES AT COUNCIL MEETING LAST NIGHT

is, and he hoped the council would render any order to get rid of him.

Carpenter Has Resisted Previews.

Alderman Carpenter had resisted every attempt to get him to talk. Monday night Mr. G. W. G. Carpenter stated that it was owing to a kind of loss account that he had given him. "It is not part," he said, "of the council's duty to discharge head of the police force."

Alderman Drysell: Hear, hear!

Alderman East continued along the same line, and the council was not with the commissioners and did not criticize the heads of departments. He was glad that the delegation had come to him, but he did not feel that the heads of police work in a new city was offered.

Mr. G. W. G. Carpenter had accepted it.

Major Carpenter: I am the one giving it to Ad. Kinney.

Alderman Kinney asked Mr. Elmer who was to be the next chief. The latter was going to be dismissed or asked to resign. Prof. Elmer replied that he was.

Major Answers Delegation.

Major McNamara then spoke. He said that he had been in touch with the maritime delegations that had ever up-tilted before any city council in western Canada. He had been in touch after a campaign in which one of the delegations was creating up on the city. The failure or success in doing so would rest on his shoulder alone rather than on that of any other man. The city was going to be cleaned up.

"Now you come to me with a most absurd request. You want an understanding which I might as well say I do not have."

He then went on to say that he did not think the city was so much worse than it was last January. "He had been in touch with the police force and got worse and worse all the time but he did not think that it was much worse than it was last January or January. He thought it impossible for a man to clean up a city in one year and that it was quite impossible to do it in one year with a police force of one hundred men in a year.

Council Not Kept Bad People.

"The council is not keeping bad people. If I had much to do with it, I would clean up the police department. Carpenter is a good man in his line, detective work. You are all here and I am suggesting to you that you should go to this council and suggest that it should do something."

"I think he has failed to clean up the city than he is blame." And I am going to shoulder the responsibility of seeing that he does it."

He then went on to say that W. J. McNa- mara, has thrown his hat in the ring again. The town already in was open, but it is going to be closed up. No, he did not think that the election is it is any more right, for the rich man in the Northern Club, or the Edmonton Club, to gather than for the poor man to do it in the ring."

Major Clarke After Delegation.

Major McNamara then responded his seat and Alderman Clarke took his place. He intimated that these people were working to keep the city to intimidate and trounce city officials. He then broke into a torrent of execrations of the police force.

"I know the fact they are here because the police force are unwilling to pay money to keep the police on the force. There are no police now and nobody is going to nominate any of the police. Two of the biggest hotels in the city are open houses of prostitution."

He then stated that he had been threatened by Carpenter, who was unable to dismiss Chief Carpenter, this delegation from the Temperance and Moral Reform League would come to the city.

Recent Crimes Unpunished.

He then read a list of crimes that had been committed in the city and no one in the way of punishing or punishing the perpetrators produced. "One of the hottest within a month there was a man who had a house of prostitution." He referred to the charges made in the Bulletin and which were denied by Carpenter.

He then stated that it had been threatened that if he would not make to dismiss Chief Carpenter, this delegation from the Temperance and Moral Reform League would come to the city.

Protests Blasts.

He said the chief there was crooked and Carpenter was not willing to pay money to keep him. He told Alderman wanted a man who could not be taken in and he was doing something which he intended to do.

He then stated that it had been threatened that if he would not make to dismiss Chief Carpenter, this delegation from the Temperance and Moral Reform League would come to the city.

Chief Carpenter: Hear, hear!

Alderman Smith then held the floor saying that he was glad the delegation had come to him. "This delegation is glad to see the delegation. He did not think they were unjustified in coming. He said that he was glad that the delegation had come to him.

Some of the delegation objected on the grounds that this statement was not in accordance with their charter, but Major McNamara said that Alderman Smith was correct.

He then said that Chief Carpenter was doing better work than had ever been done in the city before or will ever be done in the city. He was in agreement. He felt confident that he will be retained and expressed the belief that the chief was working against the city.

"The man is a real man, who can do it. All the dirt in the world I challenge you to find a man who can do it," he said.

He said he hoped the commissioners would not continue to fire officials the way they have been doing during the past month. This statement was objected to by Alderman May, who asked him to keep his statements within reason. Alderman Smith amended it to the statement that the commissioners would not keep on as they had begun.

Major Carpenter: Hear, hear!

Alderman May placed the onus of responsibility for the clubs on the police force.

Alderman East said he had noticed the criticisms of the chief in the Bulletin. The only part of it which he would make difference, Alderman Carpenter, stop those statements.

The council chamber was in an upper room. Major McNamara shouting at Alderman Clarke to sit down. When Alderman Clarke did not, he told Alderman Calder to sit down. Alderman Calder, robust and burly, rose and said that the other aldermen objected that he was out of order and that such statements should not be made. The other delegation of Alderman May, the ruling of the chair was sustained and Alderman Calder refused to sit down and withdrew the statements.

Alderman Calder asked if it was in order for him to call him a crook and a thief. Alderman Clarke retracted those statements and said that when he wanted to make them he would do so outside of the council chamber.

Large Amount of Business Was Left Over at Session of Last Night

Unemployed men sat up the city last

"The man is unemployable as he has no friends, he is not interested in the city," he said.
